AFFAIRS OF THE DISTRICT

Complaints of the Condition of Fourteenth Street Northeast.

Residents Say Children Cannot Cross the Thoroughfare in Rainy Weather Because of the Mud-Mr March Objects to Croquet Playing at Night as a Serious Nuisance.

The District Commissioners recently reelved a petition signed by Adolf Ge. hard and eleven other residents and property holders interested, calling attention to the condition of Fourteenth Street northeast, between F and G Streets, and requesting that the same be paved.

The petition sets forth the fact that drivers of vehicles, such as grocery and milk wagons, have made repeated complaints about the almost impassable condition of the street in this square after heavy rains, and it is further stated that dealers in milk and groceries have gone so far as to threaten that if their goods are to be delivered in this street they will raise the price to cover the necessary additional cost of dragging their wagons through the heavy readway.

The petitioners also say that it is impossible to keep the approaches to or the interior of their homes in a tidy condition on account of the quantities of mud and clay carried around on the shoes. In dry weather it is claimed to be a necessity to keep the windows in the houses closed on account of the quantities for the description of the quantities for the conditions. account of the dust. It is further asserted that the children in going to and from Perce School find difficulty in crossing Fourteenth Street in rainy weather beause of the mud.

C. B. Hunt, the Computing Engineer, in reporting upon this petition, at the request of the Commissioners, recommended that the communication be placed on the improvement file for the northeast section, as a request for an asphalt roadway. He further recommended that the petitioners be informed that at present additions are not being made to the schedule of improved streets for reasons well known to the Commissioners.

in forwarding this report to his associin forwarding this report to his associates, Capt. Lansing H. Beach, the Engineer Commissioner, now recommends that the applicants be informed that on account of the length of the schedules for street paving it has been considered inadvisable to add any streets to them, and no additions have been made for some time past. "The schedules for paving," he says, "are of such length that some streets on them could not be reached for some five or sir years, and before they were reached the order of importance was sometimes changed and other perfore they were reached the order of importance was sometimes changed and other more important streets had to receive pavement in advance, such streets having developed importance during the interval.

Captain Beach adds that the Commissioners are aware of the condition of Fourteentin Street northeast, and will keep the same in mind, and will provide it with pavement at the earliest date practicable.
This recommendation the Commissioners

Figures Not to Be Made Public for Several Days. "The population of the District of Columbia cannot be made public for several days yet," said Director Merriam to a reporter for The Times today. "The clerks are busily engaged in making the count from the figures turned in by the enumerators and are working as fast as enumerators and are working as fast as they possibly can. Rest assured that I will give out the figures as soon as they are placed on my desk."

The cool wave has greatly facilitated the work at the Government bake-oven or hot-house on B Street, commonly known as the Census Office, and if it continues there is strong hope that the census will be counted without even the loss of one life from heat prestration. life from heat prestration.
